

DPAUMOD

Weekly Journal
Devoted to Music Art
Society and Current Gossip

W. H. L. YOUNG

Dallas, Texas, June 30, 1906

The Oriental

This elegant hotel has the largest and most luxuriously appointed rooms of any hotel in the state. South and East exposure. Is beyond dispute the finest hospitality in the South. The spacious dining hall most suitable for receptions and balls.

OTTO HEROLD
Manager

New Pianos

$150 to $1,000

Terms as Low as

$1.50 weekly or $6 monthly

20 Makes
100 Styles

Come and See Us

Thos. Goggan & Bros.

DALLAS GALVESTON WACO
HOUSTON AUSTIN

Lake Cliff Casino

THIRD BIG WEEK
COMMENCING

MONDAY JULY 2

The American Opera Company

IN

"The Telephone Girl"

The Great New York Casino Success

See Don Carlos

With his wonderful

Lions and Dogs

PRICES--25, 35 and 50

THE MAJESTIC

THE finest Apartment Hotel in the South, just opened. Situated on South Ervay Street, opening on the City Park.

A SPECIALLY DESIRABLE PLACE FOR BALS, BANQUETS, DINNERS, WHIST TOURNAMENTS AND CARD PARTIES.

Private Dining Rooms and Cuisine of the very best.

FORTNIGHTLY DANCES.

C. O. JOHNSTON,
Manager.

EVERYTHING

IN THE

LIQUOR LINE

Imported or Domestic

SWOPE & MANGOLD

(INCORPORATED)

The Oldest Liquor House in Dallas.

Mail Orders Have Prompt Attention

Phone Main 102

Price 10 Cents

CARTWRIGHT-CORLEY WEDDING.

A MONG the interesting and handsomely appointed June weddings was that of Miss Grace Corley and Mr. Columbus W. Cartwright of Terrell, which was celebrated at the Corley home on Griffith Avenue Wednesday evening, June 20th. This was an event of unusual interest, as it connects two of Terrell's oldest and most prominent families. The large and handsome Corley home was truly a scene of bridal splendor for the occasion, an exquisite color scheme of white and green being carried out in the reception suite, with carnations in great profusion, set in groups of ferns and smilax. The hands of an experienced decorator deftly transformed the archway between the library and den into the daintiest bridal bower, with an overhanging canopy of ferns and carnations, and a background of stately palms making a most beautiful setting for the bridal party. The bridal cortege was beautifully gowned and admirably poised, the first to enter being little Mantie and Rowena McClurkin and Helen and Ruth Corley in dainty muslin frocks, with Dresden ribbons; then the bridesmaids, Misses Jerome and Ludie Cartwright, wearing white radium silk gowns and carrying arm bouquets of Bride roses. Mrs. Thomas E. Corley, the matron of honor, was beautifully gowned in a white lace robe and carried American Beauty roses. The dainty maid of honor, Miss Ethel Corley, sister of the bride, wore a lovely lingerie gown and carried Bride roses. The bride was a vision of loveliness in an elaborate gown of hand-embroidered mussaline satin en princesse with court train, and carried a bouquet of orchids fringed and festooned with lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. D. Y. Craddock sang "Best of All," by Moir. For the processional Miss Watkin played the wedding march from Mendelssohn, with violin obligato by Miss Hobson. The beautiful ring ceremony of the Christian Church was performed by Rev. N. Jackson Wright. In the large dining room, where the Elite's choicest bridal collation was served, the table was elaborately laid with cluny lace over green, with massive cut glass vases of white peonies reflecting their beauty in mirrors festooned with smilax. The presents were many and handsome, being one of the most beautiful collections ever seen in Terrell. After the happiest and heartiest congratulations there was a merry round of toasting about a big punch bowl set in a cozy nook in the rear of the hall and presided over by Misses Mary Cartwright and Eugenia Gladney. After the cutting of the wedding cake, which caused the usual flutter, the bride mounted the stairway and tossed her bouquet to her maids-in-waiting, which was captured by Miss Jerome Cartwright. Miss Mantie Ingram officiated at the wedding book and received the names of two hundred or more guests. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Corley were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Leonidas Cartwright and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Cartwright. Among the out-of-town guests in the house party were Mrs. Louis L. Shackelford of Waxahachie, Mrs. Eugene A. Wilson, Robert Corley and L. Cartwright, Jr., of Beaumont, Miss Mary Harrison of Fort Worth, Miss Roberta Connor of Dallas, Mrs. W. M. Lacey of Abilene and Rev. G. L. Smith of Waco.

A pretty home wedding was that of Miss Agnes McKenna and Frank R. Weaver, on Tuesday evening, at the residence of her aunt, Mrs. M. A. Walsh, 205 McKinney Avenue, Rev. Father Hayes of the Sacred Heart Cathedral performing the ceremony before quite a party of relatives and intimate friends. The decorations of the entire house were carried out in that always refreshing and effective color scheme, white and green, with a profusion of Brides roses and carnations on mantel and cabinet. The bride, who was attended by her sister, wore a white French embroidered lingerie gown over chiffon, and car-

SUMMER TOURIST TICKETS TO THE
Seashore, Mountains of Virginia
Points East and New England
RESORTS

VIA

For rates or free printed matter call or address H. I. Newton, Passenger Agent, J. M. Stone, Traveling Passenger Agent, 257 Main Street, Dallas.

DR. OSCAR M. MARCHMAN

Plateau Building, Rooms 205-6 and 7.

Hours:

11 to 12:30 and 4:30 to 6 p. m.

Phones:

Office Main 4248, Res. Haskell 799

ried an arm cluster of Bride's roses. Miss Katherine McKenna, the maid of honor, wore a white mousselin, flounced and ruffled with lace, and carried La France roses. Mr. Weaver was attended by Percy Ginn, as best man. After a trip to Lookout Mountain, Tennessee, and a visit to the bride's uncle, Mr. Timothy Moroney, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver will be at home on Cedar Springs Avenue.

ARMSTRONG-ERWIN NUPTIALS.

One of the prettiest weddings of the very weddy season was that of Miss Texas Erwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Erwin, and Volney E. Armstrong, celebrated on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents in Kaufman, Tex. The fashionable and ideal wedding theme, white and green, was carried by palms, smilax, roses and carnations into a beautiful ensemble throughout the reception suite. The parlor, the bridal room for the occasion, was curtained with smilax, whose dainty green strings traced the delicate laces, festooned the chandelier, and formed a pretty drapery for the oriel window, where the charming daughter of the house took the vows of wifehood. Rev. George W. Truett of Dallas performed the beautiful ring ceremony, while the Lohengrin wedding march was played for the processional and Mendelssohn for the recessional. The bride, who was attended by her sister, Mrs. Louis H. Tyler, of Dallas, wore an art gown of exquisite hand-embroidered radium, made princess, with skirt and bodice richly embellished with handsome rose point lace. Her veil was caught by a spray of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was a cluster of Bride roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Tyler wore a handsome renaissance lace robe over slips of chiffon and taffeta, and car-

JOHN M. SPELLMAN.

ATTORNEY AND SOLICITOR

I give special attention to the examination of abstracts, land titles, wills, estate matters and patent causes.

603 Wilson Building.

Phone Main 314